TATTING MADE EASY,

AND

HOW TO JOIN WITH THE SHUTTLE EXPLAINED AND EXEMPLARY.

INSTRUCTIONS AND NAMES OF STITCHES.

To work tatting neatly, it is necessary to understand perfectly the following instructions and names of stitches.

The shuttle is held in the right hand, and the stitches are formed of the loop thread round the left hand.

A DOUBLE STITCH.

A double stitch, which is the one most frequently used, consists of two plain stitches.

FIRST PLAIN STITCH.

The 1st plain stitch is formed by taking the cotton between the forefinger and thumb of the left hand, leaving an end of about 3 inches. Hold the shuttle in the right hand, and throw the thread round the back of the left hand, bring it to the thumb again, and cross it over the other thread between the thumb and finger. Hold these two threads down with the thumb, again throw the thread round the back of the hand, and put the shuttle under the centre thread, and take it out between that and the upper thread. Draw the shuttle thread tight, and rather towards you, and form the stitch with the thread which was first thrown round the hand.

SECOND PLAIN STITCH.

Keep the first stitch between the finger and thumb, let the shuttle thread fall below the loop round the hand, bring the shuttle round to the right, and put it in over the loopthread, and bring it out between that and the lower shuttle thread. Draw the shuttle thread tight as before, make the stitch of the loop thread, and work it quite close to the first plain stitch.

These two stitches complete the double stitch, thus:

![Diagram of double stitch]

A Pearl Stitch.

A pearl stitch consists of 2 double stitches, with a small loop of thread between them, and is worked thus:

![Diagram of pearl stitch]
DOUBLE STITCH, slightly raise the loop thread, press the thumb on it, and keep it there till the 1st plain stitch of the 2nd double stitch is made. This will form a loop, the size of which can be varied at pleasure; finish the 2nd double stitch by working the 2nd plain stitch, and the pearl stitch is complete.

THE JOINING STITCH.

The joining stitch is made thus: Make a double stitch, lay the loop thread under the pearl to which it is to be joined, loop through the pearl with the pin, and put the shuttle through his loop. Draw the loop thread back again round the hand as before, and regulate the threads so that the loop introduced may form a stitch of the same size as the other stitches. (It will be as well here to try if the shuttle thread will draw easily, which it will do if the join is made properly.) Work the 2nd plain stitch. This completes the joining stitch.
TO FORM A LOOP OF SEVERAL STITCHES.

When the number of stitches required are worked, hold the worked stitches firmly between the thumb and forefinger, let the loop thread fall off the left hand, and draw the shuttle thread tight as is required.

In working a succession of loops, care should be taken to begin each loop as close as possible to the preceding one.

TO INCREASE THE SIZE OF LOOP THREAD WHEN REQUISITE.

In working several stitches to form a loop, of course the loop thread of which the stitches are formed, becomes used, and the loop too small to work comfortably. To increase its size again
Keep the thumb firmly pressed on the worked stitches, take hold of the looped thread at the beginning of the stitches, and draw it to the size desired.

TO FASTEN OFF.

Tie neatly in a double knot on the wrong side. The right side is the upper side while working.

TO FASTEN ON.

To fasten on to any particular pearl to begin a fresh pattern, loop the thread through the pearl, and put the shuttle through the loop and draw tight, leaving an end of about three inches, which will be required to fasten off with, when the pattern is completed.

Beginners are recommended to perfect themselves in these stitches before they attempt the more difficult patterns, which will then become comparatively easy.

The following patterns are represented in the illustrations, the same size as they appear when worked with "Evans' Boar's Head Cotton," No. 1. The worker can vary their quality at pleasure by using either finer or coarser cotton.

a joining stitch, draw the shuttle thread tight, and make a loop as before described, and join again to next loop of last row.

Join thus after every loop, to every loop of preceding row. Work 1 loop, and fasten off. This makes 1 more loop than in 1st row.

There should be one more loop in this row than in the 1st row.
